HEAVIES MUST PUT UP A REAL FIGHT

(By International News)
New York, June 24.—Fred Fulton and Jack Dempsey are matched to fight twenty rounds July 4th at Danbury, Conn.
And unless the authorities step in and put a crisher on the mill their meeting should result in a real fight. These two aspiring heavyweight champions cannot afford to do anything less than to put up a real fight. They have to fight or shut up, for unless both men go into the battle hammer and tongs the boxing public will relegate them to the class in which Jess Willard has been placed and the anvil chorus will answer any future claims either may make.

Fulton side-stepped Dempsey prior to the calling off of the Willard bout and he could not be blamed. If he could have gotten on with Willard without meeting Dempsey it would have been his good fortune and Dempsey's tough luck, or whatever you want to call it.
But with the prospects of a battle for the heavyweight crown gone glimmer, Fulton accepted a bout with Dempsey readily enough, and he will go into the ring determined to give a good account of himself.
Dempsey has always been hot on Fulton's trail. The superior weight, height and reach of the plasterer have no terrors for him, and he has said a great many uncomplimentary things about Rochester, Minnesota's leading native citizen. So there's no love lost between the two, and when they get together—if the law permits—there will be a mighty mean fuss on tap.

HOOVER HAS NOTHING ON CORNELIUS MACK

(By International News)
New York, June 23.—Herbert Hoover has nothing on Connie Mack. When it comes to frugality, efficiency and far-sightedness the keenness of the National Food Administrator is acknowledged, but he might learn a few things from the long, lean boss of the Athletics at that.
Everybody interested in baseball thought that Mack had pulled a prize horse when he made his last big deal with the Boston Red Sox. Visions of the Athletics playing to empty seats and taking the role of the American League doormat were common.
But take time to look over the fruits of Mack's labors in getting a ball club together. You'll find that the club that ever posed as a major league organization by a whole lot. And Mack has made money—lots of it—and has the nucleus of another winner if the law doesn't hand him either a solid kick in the slats, or a Connie has made a better first base.

ROTARY CLUBS START TODAY'S SESSION IN A BLAZE OF PATRIOTISM

(By International News)
Kansas City, Mo., June 24.—The ninth annual convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs opened here today in a blaze of patriotism. Delegates from overseas were given the places of prominence at the early meeting.
It was a glad, getting-together in an organization where getting-together is the motto and watchword. And back of the banter and back-slapping which accompanied the meeting of the boys from "over there" and the club brothers of America was a deep-seated realization of America's chief purpose and "raison d'être"—the winning of the war. Every gathering was tinged with patriotic demonstration and support of the war in which, as in the club, they are all allies.
Delegates from all over the globe, with the exception of Germany, were continuing to arrive—Canada, Cuba, British Isles and other countries joining in the festivities. Discussions will be held during the convention, which continues until June 29, on topics of peculiar interest to the organization, as well as upon the share the club should take, as a body, in war work.

INTERNATIONAL GAMES WILL BE STAGED SOON

(By Associated Press)
New York, June 24.—The success of several minor track and field meets not far from the battle lines in France and Italy had led to tentative plans for a real international set of games to be held during the autumn. At present the scheme has only been outlined in a general way, but the interest and enthusiasm indicates that such a series of events can be made unusually attractive in view of the athletic talent available.
The games, if staged, will probably be held in or near Paris and will include entries from the English, French, Italian, Canadian and United States army, navy and air forces. Much will depend, of course, upon conditions prevailing at that time, but it can be stated without fear of contradiction that if the opportunity is favorable here will be a remarkable turn-out of athletic talent.

The United States forces abroad include a large number of college and club athletes of prominence in their particular athletic specialties and the same is true of those of Canada and England. Filled with an ideal number of soldiers many men who have, after several years of service developed remarkable physical power and endurance and from these there could be selected performers whose ability on track and field would undoubtedly prove a surprise to other competitors.

Under certain conditions such a meet, if it eventually might prove a war-time substitute for the Olympic games which were scheduled to be held in Berlin during the summer of 1916. The war naturally side-tracked all possibility of these games and there has not been a meeting of the International Olympic Games committee for many months. At the last conference there were tentative requests for the privilege of holding the games in 1920 from Cuba, Belgium and Scandinavian countries.

Baseball is no longer the novelty to Englishmen that it was a few years ago, but it was only recently that the natives had an opportunity to witness the American national game staged amid the proper surroundings. Major league clubs have toured England in the past and played the game with all the skill for which the players are noted, but the final touch was always lacking for there were few if any real American baseball fans to supply the natural background for the sport.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

MORRIS MILLER

There's a unique feature in the batting race in the National League. The four leaders were cast-offs from other clubs. Larry Doyle of the Giants, who is slowly recovering from an operation at present, is the titular leader. Doyle in recent seasons has been playing with the Cubs and last winter was traded by that club to the Braves, whence the Giants secured him. Doyle is second in the race and is the real leader with an average around .374. Fred McGriff of the Braves is third in the figures with a count of about .350. Red used to play with Brooklyn. Cy Williams of the Phillies is next up with .351. Cy, as will be remembered, used to be in the outer works of the Chicago Cubs.
What is it that makes a discarded player take on a new lease of life when he goes to join another club? Is it the new faces, the fresh atmosphere and the change in scenery, or is it simply a burning desire to show up his old employer who branded him with the stigma of incompetence or releasing him? Whatever the cause it is a fact well established in baseball history that cast-offs frequently prove the greatest stars.

In years gone by the biggest days in boxing were July the Fourth and Labor day. Many champions have fallen and climbed to fame on these two eventful days. But this year mean very much so far as Pistiana is concerned. There'll be an occasional scrap here and there, including the Jack Dempsey-Fred Fulton affair at Danbury, Conn. But for the most part the boxers will remain quiet. The boxer with a following these days is he who is in a soldier's uniform, or the boxer who travels miles to donate his services to war fund benefits.

Recently a monster benefit of this nature was held here. The records also show that the receipts amounted to more than $50,000. Another big benefit may be held in Cleveland on July 8 and again the stars of the padded arena will be present. But no big championships will be at stake, and the loser will receive as much glory out of the battle as the winner does, because that's all there will be for him—the glory of helping raise more war funds.

They said when someone taught Grover Lowdermilk to throw a baseball straight he would never lose a game.
In the minors and in his previous attempts to score as a major league pitcher Lowdermilk has been handicapped by an inordinate desire to throw the ball over the grandstand. Almost invariably, he led his league in issuing bases on balls.
This season when Lowdy joined the St. Louis Browns it was said that he was "cured." And sure enough he proceeded to give a most satisfactory demonstration of control. No longer is he a wild man. The records show that he has fringed only about twenty batters to first all season. The records also show that he has had less success upon the hill this season in the matter of winning ball games, than he enjoyed in the days when he pitched every other batter. The big pitcher threatens to return to his old generous ways if his luck doesn't come back very shortly.

Glover Alexander, former star hurler of the Chicago Cubs and more recently at Camp Funston, Kan., is reported as being on his way to an eastern port of embarkation. With him in the battery is Chuck Ward, ex-Brooklyn star. It is believed they will soon be on their way to France to complete their training there. They have made arrangements to take a brief leave at the port and to compete in a ball game which probably will be their last in this country until they return from overseas.

Even as the little worm doth turn, so will the baseball firm. Edgie Cicotte lost eight straight games this season before he finally managed to break into the victory column. Now he has won several straight and is still going.

What Will Be Your Answer?

Many American ships with many American lives are at the bottom of the Atlantic, victims of German lust for blood.

Our boys are going "over there," through a sea of hostile submarines, to fight that you and I at home may be safe.

But we can do something. It may not be much, but what we can do we must do. Germany said to us, "You cannot cross the ocean with your men! You cannot fight us, because you cannot reach us!" And now she is waiting for our answer.

June 28th National War Savings Day

Every man, woman and child is going to join in an answer that can be heard from one end of Germany to the other—an answer so clear, so strong and so true that it may have a far greater effect than any of us can imagine, on Germany's future policy.

Let this be our answer—let every person in this great land of ours pledge himself to buy as many War Savings Stamps as he can possibly afford. Let's show German autocracy that sinking our ships and killing our men only stirs us to action.

Let's make June 28th memorable in the history of our country as National W. S. S. Day. Let's you and I—and every you and I, man, woman and child—resolve that before we go to bed that night we will have as many War Savings Stamps pasted on our War Savings Certificates as we can buy.

"OVER THERE"

Our boys are somewhere "over there." They may be in the trenches, they may be on the firing line or in the charge, but they are doing their duty somewhere "over there." The United States has shown the world that the melting pot of the modern day, has built up a nation mightier than the people who sought to erect the "tower of Babel," and that from the confusion of languages and the confusion of various nationalities, this country of ours is the greatest of the world. The people of the world are now looking to the United States for a new problem that will be hard to solve. Not only are our boys doing something over there, but here at home they are doing their bit and the call for five hundred more of the Red Cross boys during the month of July and August, is a crying need of the hour. From our midst, a young man of the name of "Tom Foolery" has been chosen to go to France, to be with the other boys. They are doing their "bit" over there and we are doing our right here at home. We are preparing to send others over when the time comes and we are doing our right here at home. Whether over there or over here this nation is loyal and the law is not necessary for enforcement. It is even though a few individual cases arise that make us doubt it.

NOT IN A DAY.

Rome was not built in a day nor will local conditions be altered in a day or by word of mouth or a stroke of a pen. Just now the city is in a crucible, as it were, bubbling and boiling and almost ready to develop into a bit of "Babylonian" confusion. The old adage, "Facts make waste," should be observed and nothing undertaken or contemplated that is not in accordance to the system of efficiency of the city government at a minimum cost to the taxpayers. We must have a new bridge across Jackson street, we must have our streets kept in repair, the roads approaching the city put in condition to invite traffic and not regard it, but we do not need a lot of "Tom Foolery" suggested by excited individuals whose tongues run away with their brains. Within a few years Janesville is going to double its present population, but we do not need to be hysterical about it. The times will take care of the situation and as each new requirement comes up it will be cared for. These are war times and we can not expect expenditures of money for mere employment purposes, but sooner or later we will have a recreation park, a band stand suitable for public gatherings in the court house park, municipal concerts, a Janesville "Coney Island," a woman's building so located it will care for the comfort of visitors and be a place where the women's clubs of the city can meet, and above all the public utilities will be owned and controlled by the citizens and not conducted by individuals for their own particular hobbies. Rome was not built in a day and neither will the changes contemplated about it immediately, but they will in time and the average citizen will have more chance to enjoy himself or in the strong expression, "have a better chance for his white alley" than he has at present.

DEATH'S TOLL.

Saturday's work of the train with the entertainment of a circus on board, the awful toll of life taken, would have been a startling catastrophe here, added world-wide but a few years ago, but when the death lists of our soldiers across the water come in daily with a larger toll, ever growing, it seems but a minor incident. However it is horrible enough to be recognized as one of the saddest happenings of many months on this continent and most regrettable in view of the fact these people who lost their lives were playing their part in this world's war by keeping the people entertained, fanned in sleeping cars, sleeping in piers of bunks, three deep and two to a bunk, these people were swept to death by the carelessness of a railroad official, who ran by signals, failed to observe red lights, lanterns, block signals, and who cowardly ran away when he saw what devastation he had wrought. No matter if they played the harp on foreign agents, this is an excuse too often given, the fact remains the dead are gone beyond recall and the living, wounded, burned and suffering from many injuries, are exhibits of disobedience to orders. In this life obedience should be instilled from earliest childhood. Military discipline teaches this. The time will come when every old-headed man who has been fitted with a certain amount of military discipline will be a great lesson. Meanwhile, the sympathy of the nation goes out to those who are left to mourn the loss of the men and women and innocent children who lost their lives in the accident of Saturday. May it be a lesson for the future and their deaths not in vain as a protest against this demand for speed and disobedience of orders.

"CARRY ON"

The initial drive for the War Savings Stamps is now officially on. The cause is a good one and aside from affording the government materially in the period when aid is essential, it encourages thrift and saving—elements which will be absolutely necessary in the days to come for the duration of the war and for some time afterwards. That this nation does not have broad riots, that there are not internal disorders, serious strikes and labor difficulties are all due to the united efforts of the citizens as a whole and the fact that this nation is learning a lesson which, though unexpected, is essential to the future happiness of the nation. It is the "Thrift" stamps were first introduced, a prominent banker in an eastern city took charge of the campaign and felt assured that the millions could be turned into the treasury. His "Christian idealism" fell by the wayside and while he is the nominal head of the present drive, the government could not well afford to permit one of its undertakings fail, and it has called upon the men who made the last Liberty Loan the success it was, to aid in firmly establishing the "War Savings Stamps" in the minds of everyone.

The newspapers have been called upon to do their share again and have nobly responded to the call, despite the fact they have been attacked by many of the "noble band of patriots" who grow government salaries and believe they are "tiny Cezars" immune from all suggestion owing to their position. The War Savings Stamp sale will be a success even though it comes on top of the Liberty Loan and at the same time it teaches "thrift" in a way that is practical. It follows the slogan of the continental warfare that has made this necessary: "Carry On" old chap, "Carry On".

If you see some poor, agonized people fleeing for their life, it is not the Belgians being driven by the cruel Hun, but merely the June wedding couples escaping from their tormentors.

The people who thought ten weeks ago that it would upset the fundamental life of the nation if everyone got up an hour earlier, have now completely forgotten that we played a little joke on the clocks.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

We were the dreamer of the brood; We were the restless son. The stalwart of the wayward mood; The wild unharnessed one; The different child that brought the tears to mother's gentle eyes. By grumbling at the chains of years And all her preaching wise. And so one day we turned from her and came to Plymouth Rock. And neighbors smiled and said we were the black sheep of the flock. Soon came a stormy argument, and after it was over, In bitterness the word was sent that we'd come home no more; New joys had made us proudly glad, here with our fields and vines, The riches of the world we had, its choicest foods and wines; And in the motherland 'twas said when gossip's tongue would hom.

That once a wayward son was bred from whom no good would come. Swiftly the happy years flew by, then bitter grief and care. Out of a clear and sunny sky struck at the mother, there. Old as the hills, the story runs, be-seized by tyrant might. The mother called upon her sons to guard her through the night. Hate's forces "battered" at her door; But we still kept our distant shore and did not seem to hear.

Across three thousand miles of sea one day a stranger came. Ad neighbors questioned "Who is he, and what can be his name?" The mother raised her troubled eyes and saw his splendid face. For she alone could recognize the courage of his race. "My boy is home once more," said she, "Now have I nothing to fear. Soon shall the tyrant bow his head. America is here!"

PROHIBITION MAKES BIG GAIN IN STATE

A statement issued today by the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League says: "After midnight June 30, 76 per cent of Wisconsin's territory will be dry against 24 per cent of her people will live in this dry area, 41,444 square miles dry against 29,000 two years ago, a 50 per cent gain; 1,034,643 dry population against 586,144 two years ago, or 100 per cent gain in two years, which the drys think is 'going some' for the state having the greatest ratio of breweries and of German population."

"There are 1, 814 dry units, with respective population as follows: Municipalities over 25,000 population, two; Superior 50,000 and Madison 35,000; total population 85,000. Over 10,000 and less than 25,000 population, two; Beloit 22,000 and Ashland 12,000; total population 34,000. Over 5,000 and less than 10,000, one, Baraboo; 6,324. Over 1,000 and less than 5,000, 42; total population 87,325. Under 1,000 population, 128; total population 68,207. Unincorporated towns, 1,638; total population 762,887."

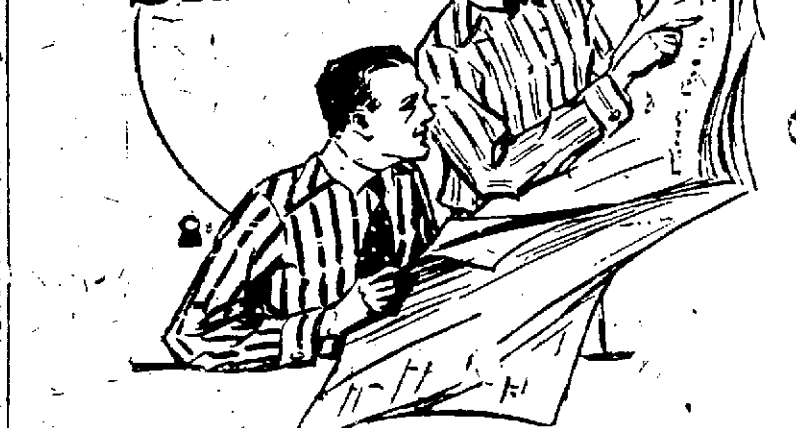

"These facts which have induced the national dry leaders to choose Wisconsin as one of the hopeful states in which to look for ratification of the national dry amendment, passed Congress last December has already been ratified by 12 states. No state has yet voted against it, though one branch of the legislature. Of the states which ratified, eight are dry, four wet; two of these (Massachusetts and Maryland) very wet. Twenty dry states remain before whose legislature the measure has not yet been presented. All these legislatures meet in regular session this winter. It is certain that all will ratify. That means 32 for ratification. 26 are necessary. Four more wet states must ratify. Wisconsin is one of the most hopeful. At the last session of the legislature a statewide referendum bill passed ed the assembly by a vote of 55 dry to 38 wet, and the senate 21 dry to 11 wet. Or the 21 drys in the senate, 12 hold over. Ten of the 12 voted against every amendment to weaken the measure or postpone the time of taking the election. If the 12 stand for ratification, then the drys need win but five out of the seventeen districts when the senators terms expire. If only the 10 who voted against still the drys need but seven out of these 17 to ratify in the senate. The assembly is very close.

"But the dry population is most advantageously placed, while the wet strength is very disadvantageously disposed. The wetts have about 60,000 more votes in wet territory than the drys have in dry territory; yet the wet vote is massed along the lake shore from Milwaukee to Keweenaw and Brown counties. Here the wet side may be almost unanimous without increasing the number of votes against ratification in the legislature. The drys, with 50,000 less votes in dry territory, have their votes so disposed as to have a preponderance in the majority of the legislative districts.

"Often in the past the drys have been caught napping. Thus, the twenty-first senatorial district is perhaps the driest in the state, yet at the last session Senator Frank Hansen, who represented that district, was the recognized floor leader of the wetts. This time the dry voters of this district will be awakened to the situation because of the certainty that the issue of national prohibition must be fought out and the fact that Wisconsin's vote will very likely determine the national complexion on this question for the next two years at least. There are several other points which the wetts have quietly captured simply because the drys made no attempt at defense. In all such districts hot contests are due.

MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood's career has been a remarkable one. Recently he was detached from the command of the Eighty-ninth national army division and was reported to be sent to France, but will drill a new army division at Camp Funston.

He has been known as a "preacher of preparedness" for as far back as the year 1914. He pleaded with congress to enact a law providing for a system of universal military training as a basis of national defense.

The Plattburgh training camp was founded by him. Examining Wood's ancestry and you will find the hall marks of distinct Americanism. He comes from Mayflower stock. His father was a country doctor. Wood originally wanted to get into the navy, but was sent to Harvard, where he studied medicine. After leaving college he hung out his shingle in the slum section of Boston.

BEEF SHORTAGE IS CAUSE OF NEW ORDER

Hotels and Restaurants Placed Under
New Restrictions as to Use of Beef. Householders also Affected.

Hotels and restaurants must not place their menus or serve:

Bolled beef more than two meals weekly.

Roast beef more than one meal weekly.

This, the newest of the food administration's orders, has been made because of the beef shortage.

The demands for beef for the allied and U. S. armies and their civil populations for this summer are beyond the present surplus.

The new order also states that house holders are not under any circumstances to buy more than one and one-quarter pounds of clear beef weekly or one and one-half pounds including the bone per person in the household.

It is extremely urgent that beef be conserved. The people must substitute pork, bacon, ham, and sausage for beef products as there is not enough increased supply of pork to permit its increased use.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, June 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ludeman were on their way home from town Saturday and had gone about two miles north of this city when an auto coming up from behind smashed into their buggy, breaking it up completely. Both occupants were thrown to the ground.

Mr. Ludeman hanging to the horse to keep it from running, while his wife was beneath the wreckage of the buggy. Neither was injured outside of a few bruises which were very fortunate and both were taken home by neighbors.

The auto belonged to Mr. Yager and was damaged slightly as the back of the collision turned the machine off the road.

PERPLEXING QUESTION FOR UNCLE SAM TO ANSWER

Stockton, Cal., June 24.—When is a "first child" not a "first child?"

This is the question that has been causing Sergeant R. R. Mergenthal, of the local U. S. Marine Corps recruiting station, to spend sleepless nights lately.

George Hadley of Kansas City, applied to Mergenthal for enlistment.

When Hadley informed him that he was married and had two children, Mergenthal told him that he would draw $32.50 for a family allotment, namely $15 for his wife, $10 for his first child and $7.50 for his second child. But Hadley insisted on $35.

"How do you figure that?" queried Mergenthal.

"Well, my youngsters are twins, so how are you going to figure the first child? They both come under the $10 head," answered Hadley.

"I give up," declared Mergenthal, after puzzling over it for a few hours. The delicate question has been put to the authorities at Washington.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and I work in a factory office. I like my work, but I can't stand to be around anyone who is smoking. Almost all the men and boys in these offices smoke; they smoke in the elevator and through the building regardless of whether any girls are around or not. Some even blow smoke in the girls' faces.

Now it is against the rules of the building but I don't think it will do any good to tell any of the bosses, for most of them smoke too. Do you think I will have to quit my job to get away from this?

NOSMO KING.
You almost will have to give up working in order to get away from smoking. A business woman should expect the conditions of the business world to change for her, merely because she has entered it. About the only thing you can do is to get a position where smoking is not allowed. If smoking makes you sick you have a right to object, but otherwise you should consider a matter that does not concern you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and I love a boy other than I. I do not know whether he loves me or not. Do you think it is true love? He seems to pay attention to me but also to other girls.

BLUE EYES.
You are not experiencing a case of love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and I am considered by most people as fair enough looking. I have always had boy friends, but have never had one who would go with me. It is impossible to convince my parents that I am old enough to be out late at night. I am working now and am paying board. Do you think I should be allowed to have at least two dates a week? PATIENCE.
Your parents are right; a girl of seventeen is too young to go with boys. I think, however, that it would be all right for you to entertain a boy at your home about once a week and to go away with him on very special occasions when your parents know it is all right. Be patient and they will not object so much.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl eighteen years of age and have recently been employed as the private stenographer of an elderly man with whom I have been deeply in love. I am sure that he likes me in a friendly way, but he is indifferent and preoccupied toward me. The best way to go about winning his affections without placing myself in a ludicrous position.

HEARTACHE.
It would be the height of folly to try to win the man you love. Youth and old age cannot be happy together as man and wife. You will get over your infatuation with time and will like your employer merely as an employer and not wish for anything more.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old and I go with a girl seventeen. She has dark hair and I have red hair, but my features are better than hers. When we go with boys they all seem to like her better. I am quiet and don't talk much. What can I do to be better liked?

VIRGINIA.
Popularity depends more upon personality than looks. A pretty girl without charm is not a friend. Study your friend and try to find out what it is that makes her more popular than you are. Since you are quiet, you are quiet and force yourself to talk more. If you try hard to overcome the negative qualities that stand in the way of your popularity, you can overcome them.

Prices and values. A woman told me, the other day, "because it is the only brand that hasn't gone up in price." Now, as a matter of fact, the size of the package has been reduced so that it really has gone up in price. Many of the things which we keep the size of the package the same. One should take advantage of quantity buying.

Having the net quantity thus clearly printed on the outside of all packages, is an advantage which I do not think we make full use of. It should be used in comparing value for the money. Usually, the larger quantity is sold for a worthwhile saving.

Value Difficult to Measure.
The matter of quality is, of course, a good deal harder to determine. There are no scales of measures by which to weigh and measure quality. It is a matter of judgment. But no just and thrifty buyer will hastily and thoughtlessly compare prices without at the same time trying to consider the matter of values.

HEALTH TALKS
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

STROKE OF PARALYSIS

Apoplexy, also called cerebral hemorrhage and stroke of paralysis, is one of the ultimate terminations of the most common serious disease of the day, namely, cardio-vascular degeneration or heart-artery wearing out. Not that the victim of heart-artery disease is doomed to have a stroke, but a stroke is one of the denunciations to which he may look forward if he persists on his way; insidious heart disease and cerebral hemorrhage are the two most common causes of death.

Hemorrhage into the brain (cerebral hemorrhage, a stroke, apoplexy) occurs when a small artery, whose wall is fragile from disease, ruptures under some slight temporary strain, such as a fit of anger, excitement of any kind, the stress of a too hard effort, mental excess, muscular exertion, bleeding from the broken artery into the substance of the brain in the very vital trunks of communication between brain centers and muscles of the body. The area and muscles of paralysis produced therefore depends upon the amount of damage to important communicating arteries and central stations. And since the left side of the brain controls the right side of the body and vice versa, hemorrhage into the left cerebral hemisphere produces paralysis of the right leg and arm and probably also of the right side of the speech center (in right-handed individuals) is in the left brain.

The kind of brain hemorrhage caused by an injury to the head is very different. Here the bleeding occurs from a vessel upon the brain surface directly under the skull bone. Usually the victim shows no sign of paralysis, but for some time after the injury, excepting perhaps ordinary shock (concussion, as shock is called when the head is injured). But in an hour, or perhaps several hours after the injury, the victim gradually sinks into a drowsy and sleepy condition. In some cases the clot, which forms under the skull and presses upon the brain. With this increasing coma, there are usually spasmodic twitches, rigidity of the muscles of the face and limbs, followed by paralysis if the clot is not immediately removed by trepan.

Apoplexy or stroke usually comes suddenly. The victim's skin becomes dusky, the face very flushed, the breathing stertorous or noisy, the pulse very full and bounding, the skin red, warm and dry. All within a few minutes.

Practically all cases occur after the age of forty.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Our doctor is not more than thirty-five years old, and perhaps he refuses to employ an anesthetic in confinement, for he says no anesthetic is safe, in the extent of the danger to your opinion on this. (R. W. W.)

Answer—It is rare indeed that complications render an anesthetic unsafe in labor.

Greetings to Former Slaves.
Dr. Brady begs to present his compliments to the 2,800 old slaves who have written him for advice and help. He has written them from Lady Nettle, breaking a new record for the number of letters which these unhappy fellows are now doing for recreation and how they are getting on.

Recall to Reduce Weight.
Please send me the "Recall" regimen as a must.

Answer—We will be glad to send you the "Recall" regimen if you will send stamped (3c) addressed envelope. And write the name of the city out good and plain.

Forest
Awake, awake, 'tis early morn,
The cow is climbing the stalks of corn,
The little bird is beating an egg,
And the rooster is dancing about on one leg.
The pig is trying on her new bonnet,
With a little blue bow and a red cherry on it.

Uncle Lucky rolled over in bed and then he got up and wiggled his ears and his left ear and after that he was so wide awake that he didn't want to get back into bed, as he did when I woke up this morning. And just then the breakfast bell rang and Mrs. Bunney came in with the coffee and the stewed prunes, and oh dear me! I really can't remember what rabbits don't eat every day, for I'm sure that if they did they wouldn't be jolly and gay and hop about merrily all through the day, but would sit and sulk and be sad, and maybe get angry and mad. So all I can remember to have something new, for no one can always enjoy a new stew. There I've said and written another place. I've said and written another place. I've said and written another place. I've said and written another place.

Well, after breakfast the old gentleman rabbit went out for a walk in the Pleasant Meadow and he went all alone, too, for Billy Bunny had just gone home and polished the front door knob and swept the piazza and feed the cinny and bring a hurry wood, for Mrs. Bunney had dishes so as up to him to go over and see Cousin Cottonball, who had just had a new baby rabbit. Well, as I was saying, Uncle Lucky hoped along the Pleasant Meadow until he came to the Old Farm Yard where Cocky Ducky and Henny Jenny and all the other Barn Yard Folk lived with the good-natured fast as he was going through the gate who should bounce out at him but a big black cat. And dear me! Her claws were sticking out of her feet like pins and her teeth glittered and her whiskers stood out like bayonets, and her tail was as big as a rolling pin and a camera's was humped up worse than a camera's. You would write me a letter, I wish me so that I can scare Uncle Lucky, for least bit frightened. No, stream-mam. He just took off his old stove-pipe hat and bowed most politely to Mrs. Black Cat, and she so surprised that she turned around and

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

5. A man should learn how to place a chair for a lady at a table. It would be the height of ill-manners to seat himself at a table before the lady of the company has taken her seat, particularly the hostess.

Questions answered by Marie Riley. (Miss Riley will answer in this column all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of the paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a three-cent stamp.)

READER: If you had sent me a stamped addressed envelope you would have had a prompt reply, but failing that, your inquiry had to take its turn. You did right to refuse to go with the lieutenant to the entertainment, since conditions forced him to allow you to return home at midnight unaccompanied. In case he asks you to go again, try to secure someone else who can see that you reach home safely.

E. M. W.: Do not ask a young man for his photograph. Let him ask for it. It is proper for one girl to ask another one for a photograph.

Went back to her three little kittens who never wore mittens because they didn't have any. The old gentleman rabbit hopped into the barn and ate some corn and had a talk with Mr. Sharpshooter. And maybe he said something hadn't happened. And when you don't expect it, something very often, and sometimes much, says, "Boy, I happen in!"

Grab for the old gentleman rabbit, but Uncle Lucky was too quick for him. He hopped right into the barn so fast that he hopped right into tomorrow's story. Wasn't that wonderful?

THINGS WORTH KNOWING
Old fat rabbits can be slipped over the glass cases before they are put into a sterilizing kettle. This is a neater and easier way of keeping them from bumping than the old way of using rags.

Make Ice Cream with one-half (or less) sour cream. Cook and freeze as in other recipes and the ice cream will be much more creamy. The made this way is very lovely. The more talk of the cream is lost in freezing.

When Peeling Fruit or Vegetables put a slit in a small cork and fit it into the back of your peeling knife. This will save your fingers.

Avoid the Smoke of Frying Bacon in the kitchen by laying the bacon on a plate and holding it over the fire for five or ten minutes. It cooks evenly this way.

Less Dust When Sweeping will be the result if you sprinkle the bare floor with a cup of water. Sweep of sawdust, dampened with kerosene oil. The sawdust may be swept into your dustpan and put away for another time. It may be used in the future if you will just add a little more oil to it each time.

Before Hemming Napkins by hand run the edge of the hem through the sewing machine. This will straighten the hem, thereby simplifying the work of hand-hemming.

String Mesh Veils can be freshened by dipping in alcohol. Shake out and pull into shape after wetting and the veil will dry quickly and look like new.

THE TABLE
Buckwheat Waffles (from above menu)—One cup buckwheat flour, one-half cup baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one tablespoon molasses, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup oil, one-half cup sifted buckwheat flour, baking powder and salt. Add milk, molasses, shortening, egg yolk, and oil. Beat and grease a waffle iron. Put a tablespoon of mixture into each compartment near center of iron. Cover and cook, turning occasionally, until crisp and brown on both sides. Serve with syrup or diluted marmalade.

Rice Flour Wafers (from above menu)—One-quarter cup butter, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup oil, one-half cup sifted rice flour, one-half cup baking powder, one-half cup salt. Beat and grease a waffle iron. Put a tablespoon of mixture into each compartment near center of iron. Cover and cook, turning occasionally, until crisp and brown on both sides. Serve with syrup or diluted marmalade.

Deviled Bones—Good way to use last of a rib roast of beef or mutton. One-half cup butter, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup oil, one-half cup sifted rice flour, one-half cup baking powder, one-half cup salt. Beat and grease a waffle iron. Put a tablespoon of mixture into each compartment near center of iron. Cover and cook, turning occasionally, until crisp and brown on both sides. Serve with syrup or diluted marmalade.

Spaghetti With Tomato Sauce—Boil spaghetti in salted water; drain; to be of the one-tablespoon size, add one cup tomato sauce, one cup sugar, one cup oil, one-half cup salt. Cook until thick; strain and thin with one cup hot water in which have been dissolved two bouillon cubes.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS FOR CAMP GRANT BOYS
Special accommodations were provided for soldiers from the north passing through the city on their way to Camp Grant last evening. A special train consisting of one of Rockford's street cars with a trailer met the Northwestern train from Fond du Lac at the depot at nine o'clock last evening and carried the soldiers to Rockford and then directly out to the camp.

A new supply of attractive literature and folders on travel in the Pacific Northwest has just been received by the Gazette-Travel Bureau.

The Little Mother of Shock 3

LOVE FLIES AWAY

So Sally Orme was jilted. At least that is what folks called it in the Kansas town where Sally lived. She herself whispered the word over and over as she lay in the dark trying to think, trying not to think, trying to sleep, that she might stop thinking, yet fearing to sleep lest she hear little night sounds—the skitter of a mouse, the rustle of the lilac bushes with their fragrant plumes, down in the corner of the yard.

It seemed as if she had listened to these faint noises half a lifetime. Her room was a cell and she a prisoner who had been chained to the wall for years. It was only four hours ago that she had got Steve's note, for there clanged the clock of Center Market—twelve strokes would they never end, strokes upon her tortured nerves like so many thwanging, snarling repetitions of "Jilted! Jilted!"

Jilted! Would the night itself never end? And yet what did the day hold for her? How should she face it, with its round of empty doings, the pathos of her family, the curious, bewitching glances of friends? For the twentieth time she sat up in bed, staring wildly into the blackness, stifled and terrified, wanting to know the best.

How could she live through it all? How go through the motions of life with her heart dead, inside her head beating about and getting up in the nothing and going to bed at night, ordering food and seeing that Lottie cooked it, helping with entertaining, and then with some other girl who had no man to take her! Dear God—that was to be her life from now on, loveless and lonely, never to get to the place where she had been, where older and sicker than she, ministering to the dead—and going to funeral.

Sally shuddered and buried her face, biting the pillow. That this should have happened to her! She should have been a different person.

On the other hand, tradition would permit Sally the privilege of breaking the engagement herself. What a farce! Her lip curled as she spurned the meaningless custom from her. She would not make herself more pitiable than she was, by taking to take to France a group of kindergartners who will establish kindergartens and try to bring back to these terror-stricken children some of the normal conditions of child life.

When members of the union met today a silver offering was taken for the Kindergarten Unit of France, a project under the auspices of the Citizens' Committee for the Conservation of the Children of America during the war.

The Curtis, director of kindergartens, New York City, Miss Curtis visited England and France in the future of child life and has become so impressed by the needs of children of France who have suffered from the horrors of war that she has arranged to take to France a group of kindergartners who will establish kindergartens and try to bring back to these terror-stricken children some of the normal conditions of child life.

YOUNG AMERICA'S PROBLEMS WILL BE CONSIDERED

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)

Chicago, June 24.—That was today of yours, though he does not know it, and would not care if he did, holds an important stage in the heart of Chicago to-day, at the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the International Kindergarten Union, open for a six-day session.

He and his problems are the concern of the eighteen thousand members of the union—what does the mean to him, to his education, to his future; what is his place in democracy, and the place of the mess of him come together in a kindergarten; what should he study, and when these are a few of the problems that will be presented and discussed by authorities from all parts of this country.

When members of the union met today a silver offering was taken for the Kindergarten Unit of France, a project under the auspices of the Citizens' Committee for the Conservation of the Children of America during the war.

The Curtis, director of kindergartens, New York City, Miss Curtis visited England and France in the future of child life and has become so impressed by the needs of children of France who have suffered from the horrors of war that she has arranged to take to France a group of kindergartners who will establish kindergartens and try to bring back to these terror-stricken children some of the normal conditions of child life.
